

Another Brightest Young Mind Summit Delegate from East London Campus!

East London: Fort Hare should really be proud of itself after it has emerged that final year Bachelor of Laws (LLB) student based at the East London Campus, Tavengwa Mukono, has also been selected as one of the 2011 "100 Brightest Young Minds" delegates. As a result, he and Innocent Morris Mutize from Alice Campus will be joining other young brains in a prestigious week long Summit in Johannesburg from the 4th to the 9th of July.

Tavengwa Mukono describes himself as a social entrepreneur whose concentration is communication in leadership. He believes that without the vision being clearly communicated to the mission (people), they can be no focused progress. Mukono has been a very active executive member of socially relevant student societies which seek to enhance student lifestyle at the University of Fort Hare. Since his first year in 2008, he has been vigorously marketing the proudly Fort Harian brand and presently he is the Campus Coordinator for TEACH South Africa, Magnet Communications Campus Ambassador as well as a JSE Schools Challenge Mentor for Tsholomnqa High School. His voice and of those like-minded is mostly heard through the "On the Ground Newsletter", a student round table publication of which he is the Editor and Creative Mindz Society (CMZ) where he doubles as a poet as well as an executive member.

When asked how he felt with his selection, Mukono said "I give glory to God and all Fort Harians who are driven by the need to turn ideas into products, I have the passion and energy and am prepared to take on anything as long as it can grow wings!"
